OLG CELEBRATES 50 YEARS!

To celebrate, we are shining a spotlight
on our dedicated long-standing retailers!

Dundas Mini Mart

Hong Kim and Yun Kim have been OLG retailers for 34 years. They've had three different stores and currently own Dundas Mini Mart in Woodstock. Hong says, "We appreciate all the support from OLG for our business over the years."

Oakridge Mini-Mart

Rafe, a dedicated lottery ambassador, has been selling lottery tickets at Petro-Canada since 2007 and at Oakridge Mini-Mart in London since 2015. Known for his deep knowledge of lottery games, jackpots and odds, he enjoys educating customers to help them be successful players. Rafe credits his successful lottery sales to a simple rule: "Keep the trays full." His incredible success can also be attributed to his appreciation and strong support for OLG. He's always ready to explain how OLG gives back to the community, especially to skeptical customers.

P-Jay's Video Variety

Don Chang has owned the Windsor store since 1991 and started selling OLG lottery products in 1992. It's been a family affair from the start. Don's parents worked at the store until their retirement a few years ago. Don's been there from the beginning, and he's still there with his wife, Sandy.

DID YOU KNOW?

In 2023-24, $319 million in commissions was paid to lottery retailers across the province!

Stay tuned for more long-standing retailer stories. The spotlight is still on, and the celebration is just getting started!
